windreamCON 2021 offers a multifaceted conference program

20 years of windream: From archiving via DMS/ECM and workflow to the Cloud

Bochum. The program of presentations for this year's windreamCON of windream GmbH has now been fixed. According to this, conference participants can look forward to a large number of technical talks and to presentations for windream beginners as well as users. The topics range from e-mail management and digital business process control to the latest features of the current ECM-platform windream Dynamic Workspace. The program will be rounded off by presentations of windream customers and partners, who will report about windream projects of different kinds. The windreamCON will be held as a hybrid event on November 10 and 11, 2021. Interested parties can participate virtually or on site at the German Mining Museum in Bochum.

windreamCON 2021 will be marked by the twentieth anniversary of windream GmbH. "We will take this event as an opportunity to look back on the milestones we have successfully mastered together with some companions of the past two decades in the context of a round of talks", says Roger David, founder and managing director of windream GmbH, and adds: "But we also look to the future with hope and want to show a perspective on how our strategies and products will continue."

The ECM provider from Bochum will also focus on digital workflow at the event. With windream BPM version 7 and the so-called "Smart Robots", the company will show where the digital journey is heading.

As keynote speaker, Mark T. Hofmann, renowned profiler, will give insights into the psychology of cybercrime. Far from technical aspects, he will focus on the human factor as the weakest link in cyber security. He will also show how a "human firewall" can be built.

Further information on the conference, including the agenda and registration options, is available on the event page:

Participation in the conference and the evening event is free of charge for all registered visitors.
